

Preparedness Saves Lives! Help CIA prepare for catastrophic emergencies.

Project Title	Preparedness Saves Lives! Help CIA prepare for catastrophic emergencies.
Project Summary	Assist the CIA by identifying best practices in preparedness, activation, reconstitution, and long-term resilience.
Country	United States

Project Description

Continuity of Operations (COOP) and Continuity of Government (COG) require that Federal Departments and Agencies can continue to perform their primary essential missions during a wide range of catastrophic emergencies. CIA's Critical Mission Assurance Program (CMAP) is seeking one or two motivated interns to conduct benchmarking research in both the government and private sector for the purposes of identifying best practices in preparedness, activation, reconstitution, and long-term resilience. Virtual Intern(s) will conduct research, identify trends and risks, synthesize data, and report recommendations.

Required Skills or Interests

Skill(s)

Analytical writing

Data analysis

Research

Writing

Additional Information

None

Language Requirements

None